We're excited to introduce a unique and engaging icebreaker inspired by research-backed Open Space Technology (OST), a collaborative approach known for its effectiveness in fostering productive discussions. The 'Open Space Icebreaker: Discover Your Colleagues' Passions' combines the principles of OST with the goal of encouraging meaningful connections and sparking intriguing conversations among your team members. OST emphasizes self-organisation and shared responsibility, allowing participants to shape the discussions.

In our icebreaker, this means that instead of complex business topics, we'll focus on personal interests, hobbies, travel experiences, and more. Each participant can choose which 'passion space' to join, and volunteer facilitators will kickstart the conversations. It's an enjoyable way to foster collaboration, ignite curiosity, and bring out the unique passions within your team while aligning with the principles of OST. We look forward to facilitating this dynamic and enjoyable experience that will help your team members get to know each other better and strengthen their bonds.

OPEN SPACE

UNFORGETTABLE MEANINGFUL TEAM BUILDING EXPERIENCE

WHAT IS OPEN SPACE?

Open Space Technology (OST) is a powerful and collaborative approach developed by Harrison Owen in the 1980s. It empowers participants to shape the agenda and discussions within a structured framework. In OST, a central theme guides the gathering, but the specifics of what and how to discuss are determined by the participants themselves.

OST's hallmark is the 'Open Space,' where participants propose and lead discussions or activities related to the central theme. There are no rigid schedules; participants gather in a circle, and anyone passionate about a topic can step forward, announce their discussion, and invite others to join. This approach encourages self-organisation, shared responsibility, and free-flowing dialogue.

HOW WILL WE MAKE IT FUN?

To encourage each session to engage in discussions throughout the sessions. We have devised short and fun mini-games in relation to the chosen topics. Making conversations that spark curiosity and laughter. You'll learn about your colleagues' passions, hobbies, and unique experiences in a way that's both entertaining and meaningful. We've designed engaging activities that encourage connection, whether you're guessing intriguing stories, exploring shared interests, or getting creative. It's an opportunity to bond, share stories, and create lasting memories while getting to know your fantastic team members better.

TWO VERSIONS VERSIONS AVAILABLE

We acknowledge your deep knowledge of your team's preferences. We recognise that some teams may be less inclined to propose session ideas compared to others. To accommodate this, we offer preselected session options for your employees. This approach not only empowers your team by providing greater control over the session but also ensures a swift start to the event.

Furthermore, some organisations have successfully engaged employees by sending out pre-event emails, soliciting their input on session topics in advance.
